Table of Contents

Preface ................................................................. Toshio Kobayashi

Opening Remarks .................................................. Takashi Sakamoto 1

Keynote Address ..................................................... 3
  E-Learning and Multicultural, Multilingual Coexistence in Search of Equitable Co-existence of Humankind in the Developing Age of Information Technology
  ................................................................. Yoneo Ishii 5

Session 1: Multicultural Co-existence and E-learning ........... 13
  Session Summary: Multicultural co-existence and eLearning - Wielding a double-edged sword for a happy marriage?
  ................................................................. Hiroki Yamaji 15
  The Internet as a Political and Ethical Process: Implications of ICT and E-learning in the Multicultural Contexts
  ................................................................. Kazuhiro Ebuchi 21
  International Collaboration in Distance Education:
  A Model between Turkey and Kazakhstan
  ................................................................. Ali E. Özkul and Cemil Ulukan 40
  Multicultural Co-existence and E-learning: Any Place for Creativity and Self-organization?
  ................................................................. Maria E. Q. Gonzalez and Willem (Pim) F. G. Haselager 53
  Development of Synchronous and Asynchronous Distance Education:
  Collaborative Learning with Local Context
  ................................................................. Shinobu Y. Yamaguchi 68

Session 2: E-learning Interface for Multicultural Co-existence ... 77
  Session Summary ...................................................... Masaaki Kurosu 79
  E-Learning in Context: The Role of Semantics, Metaphors, and Culture in Computer-Aided Instruction
  ................................................................. Donald L. Day 81
  Cross-cultural Aspects of Using a Virtual Learning Environment:
  The Evaluation of a Virtual Campus Website by Users from North-America, England, the Netherlands and Japan
  ................................................................. Vanessa Evers 95
  Pedagogy First: Developing Collaborative E-learning Environments
  ................................................................. Robert Fox 116
Session 3: International Collaboration in Content Development and Distribution

Session Summary .............................................. Tsuneo Yamada 151
Key Issues for Educational/Learning Resource Sharing Networks:
Standardization, Globalization and Localization in the ICT Environments
.................................................. Makiko Miwa 153

E-learning: Collaboration, Contextualization and Globalization:
A Higher Education Example from Africa and Australia
.................................................. Allan Herrmann 165

Connecting with International Learners by the Globalization and Localization of E-Learning Contents through Collaboration:
Lessons from Higher Education Institutes in Korea
.................................................. Youngsoo Kim 183

Wrap up Session .............................................. Tosio Kobayashi 197

Contributors .......................................................... 201

02NIME International Symposium Executive Committee Members
.......................................................... 203